FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1874.

JORDAN STONE, Managing Editor.

ELECTION AUGUST 6th, 1874.

FOR SUPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

L. STEPHEN D. POOL, OF CRAVEN.

The DAILY NEWS is now the only paper in Raleigh that gives every morning the latest markets and other telegraphic reports. The public should note this fact.

The Sixth Judicial District.

The members of the Democratic Executive Committee for the Sixth Judicial District are requested to meet in Raleigh on Tuesday, the 24 day of June, 1874.

C. M. COOKE, Chm'n.

"RESOLVED, That we earnestly recommend to the members of the Democratic-Conservative party to discourage independent candidates and all other disorganizers, and that all support be promptly withdrawn from every aspirant for office who shall oppose the regular nominees of our conventions."—Resolution adopted by Democratic-Conservative State Executive Committee.

IN speaking yesterday of Major AVERY, of Burke county, in connection with the Solicitorship of that District, our types made us say Major OREY.

MONEY wasted—the large amount paid Congress to discuss financial relief measures that are to be vetoed by the President. We would like for the President and his New York and Boston lobbyists to experience for twelve months the depressed financial condition of the South.

THE old saying that revolutions never go backwards, has met with a decided contradiction in the West. At one time it looked as if the temperance crusaders would sweep everything before them, yet we find that the new City Council of Cincinnati has repealed all the Sunday and Temperance ordinances by the heavy vote of 38 yeas to 5 nays.

Books are about to be opened in Newbern and the surrounding country, composing the district of the Atlantic Council of Patrons of Husbandry, to solicit subscriptions to the capital of a cotton factory, to be started at Newbern. This is a move in the right direction, and we would like to chronicle similar ones from every portion of the State.

THE farmers of Oregon have met in State Convention and organized a Farmers or Anti-Monopoly Party. They placed in nomination a full State ticket. The platform sets forth that there is no hope but in the people to correct the extravagance and corruption prevailing in State and national administrations, and that officials paid by the Government should devote their full time to the Government.

MAJOR JNO. W. DUNHAM, who has been confined to his room in this city since the adjournment of the Legislature, has, we are glad to know, sufficiently recovered to go upon a brief visit to his relatives in Wilmington. He will return to this city in some week or ten days, when he will go upon the Editorial staff of the NEWS, his health having prevented his doing so heretofore. His vigorous pen will doubtless be felt in the summer campaign.

THE burning of the Haxall Flouring Mills in Richmond, Va., on Tuesday night, will prove a severe loss to the commercial interests of that city. These mills were among the largest in the world and were built some forty years ago. They escaped the terrible conflagration resulting from the evacuation of Richmond in 1865, though everything around them was burned. The loss will reach some $500,000, with an insurance of some $300,000. We doubt not but that the mills will be immediately rebuilt.

"The colored troops fought nobly"—in the slight skirmish which occurred in the streets of Little Rock on Tuesday evening between BAXTER's colored troops, some of the citizens and a portion of the forces under Col. ROSE. The firing was commenced by the discharge of a pistol at Col. WHITE, commanding a regiment of BAXTER's blacks, which was followed by some two hundred shots from citizens and soldiers, which caused BAXTER's negro troops to retire rapidly from the streets. The firing resulted in the serious wounding of Major D. F. SHALL, who was at the Mansion House, the wounding of Gen. W. A. CRAWFORD, in the head and the slight wounding of two darkies.

CREMATION clubs are being organized in several portions of the country. The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle says: "Several gentlemen of this city propose organizing a cremation club some time during the coming week. They number already six or eight, and have embraced the cause with enthusiasm. We learn that they have written to several well known gentlemen of this and other States asking their opinion of the movement." The newborn desire of some people to be burned is rather remarkable, in view of the fact that unless many of them change their course of living they will be gratified to their hearts' content hereafter, and without any trouble to themselves.

A LARGE meeting of the business men of Richmond, Va., was held on Tuesday night to consider the question of changing the gauge of the Richmond and Danville Road to Greensboro, and to consider the action of the Chamber of Commerce of Richmond which had approved the change of gauge. Col. BUFORD, the President of the Road, addressed the meeting explanatory of the necessity to his Road and to the interests of Richmond that the change of gauge should be made. During the pending of the resolutions disapproving the change, and urging the Legislature to pass a measure preventing the Lynchburg and Danville Road from tapping the Piedmont Road inside the North Carolina line, the announcement of the burning of the HAXALL Mills caused the meeting to adjourn without any final action being taken.

THE Little Rock muddle, or the contest between BROOKS and BAXTER, has not yet been settled, although it is thought both parties will agree to a compromise to the end that the Legislature be called together to settle the question. Both parties are still defiant, both backed by armed forces, while the strong arm of the Federal government is interposed between them to prevent bloodshed. There has been some little firing between the troops, but only of a desultory character, and a few citizens have been arrested only to be released again. A Little Rock dispatch makes the rather caustic remark that the troops upon both sides, composed mostly of blacks, "bear patiently the restraint imposed by the Federal troops." We shouldn't wonder.

P. S.—Since the above was placed in type our noon dispatches record the fact that "the civil war is over." The particulars of the cessation of hostilities are not given.

THE agony concerning the inflation of the national currency is at last over, the President having on Wednesday vetoed the Congressional bill looking to this end. Wall street and the bloated bond-holders of the North and East are consequently jubilant, while the sections which it was sought to benefit must quietly grin and endure. It will not be possible for the Senate to pass the measure over the veto, as it had only a small majority on the passage of the bill. We suppose now the Herald will lower its battle flag, cease its war cry, loudly hurrah for GRANT, and once again look with compassionate eyes upon those whom the North has made its time-servers and brick-makers who should be content with the straw that is furnished them with which to perform their tasks. The President, in his veto, claims that the theory of expansion is a departure from the true principles of finance and in direct opposition to every message which he has sent to Congress.

THEY do things queerly in Washington some times. It has now arrived at that pitch there an editor cannot call an M. C. "a spoilsman and a legislative pumpkin-head" without giving offence. DON PIATT's paper, the Capital, had the audacity to do this thing last Sunday regarding one Mr. McKEE, representative from the Fifth District of Mississippi, and that gentleman called, with an ominous looking rattan cane in his hand, to see Don; but that individual was out of the city, and the enraged Congressman being told that a relative of the editor, Mr. JOHN JAMES PIATT, had charge of the paper in the absence of the editor, he visited the relative and gently laid his cane across the relative's nose and quietly walked away, feeling himself satisfied. Verily, the Congressmen of the present age are becoming extremely sensitive—what are the editors of the country to do if they are not to be allowed to "compliment" public men?

IT is the opinion of some of the lawyers present at the recent meeting of the Stockholders of the North Carolina road, at Greensboro, that the action of the meeting in accepting the act of consolidation with the exception of the clause proscribing W. A. SMITH and others—which was rejected by a vote of 4,245 to 3,244—amounts to nothing, as the meeting could not accept a part without accepting the whole of the act. Says the Greensboro Patriot: "The object of the meeting in thus accepting the act seems to be shaped expressly to bring influence to bear during the coming election and on the next Legislature. In this point of view it will probably be effective. We understand it is in contemplation to call a meeting of the stockholders of the road at no distant day to take into consideration the course to be pursued by them, and see whether some measures cannot be adopted to foster our railroad interests, and at the same time prevent their stock from being sacrificed. Something of this sort should have been done long ago."

How Washburn was Chosen U. S. Senator—Closing Scenes of the Struggle.

The long struggle in Massachusetts over the Senatorship created greater or less interest throughout the whole country. A Boston special gives the following closing scenes, which will be found interesting:

"The election of Gov. Wm. B. Washburn as Senator, effected on the third ballot to-day, was a sudden movement and brings surprise to everybody. The voting began at noon with a severe blow to the Dawes men, Judge Hoar being found to lead Dawes one vote, when the result of the first ballot was declared. One Democrat voted for Hoar, giving him his majority. The Joint Convention then adjourned for an hour, and the Dawes men met for counsel in a demoralized state. They agreed to drop Mr. Dawes by a vote of 38 to 22, but could not so readily agree upon any one to support as his successor. Dr. George B. Loring proved the favorite, though ex-Gov. Bullock and Gov. Washburn had votes. The Hoar men waited for a proposition, but hearing of Dr. Loring's strength adjourned without receiving it, and scouted the idea of voting for Dr. Loring.

The anti-Bullock Dawes men, in the meantime, had privately sent assurances of their readiness to vote for Gov. Washburn. When the next ballot was taken some of them began to drop off to him, and some of the original Adams men also left Judge Hoar and returned to Mr. Adams. Hoar led Dawes three votes, with a large number of votes scattered on other candidates. On the next ballot the "break up" began in earnest. The Hoar vote was carried over entire to Washburn, and the Dawes men, with the exception of some of the Butler faction, joined with them. This elected Washburn by a considerable majority. Adams's supporters stood firm to the last.

Gov. Washburn's election is the result of a compromise to keep the party together. It had been in the power of the Dawes faction to bring it about at any stage since the first week of the balloting, but the Hoar men were masters of the situation at last, and really named the candidate, the positions of the factions having been reversed in the last two days. Nobody is greatly pleased with the result except from a feeling of relief that the long struggle is over and that Butler is beaten. His defeat is entirely apparent, and his followers have not had the skill to conceal it. The remainder of the Dawes party came to an agreement because they found their position untenable before the people of the State. They feared, too, that the period when a successful compromise possible was passing away, for Adams's strength was increasing, and had the contest been continued another week, it was quite probable that with the aid of the Democrats he would have been elected."

The last edition of the London Stang Dictionary, under the head of "bummer," says: "In California men who profess to be journalists, and so obtain free dinners and drinks, are called literary bummer."

The fact that Little Rock is swarming with Major Generals encourages a hope that there will be no bloodshed.

The Baltimoreans are slightly happy—Charlotte Graham is to give two of her readings there in May.

Says the Wilmington Journal of the 22d inst:

"Some two weeks since a young colored man by the name of John Giles, stole an ox from his mother, Margaret Walker, at her place near Castle Hayne, about nine miles above the city, and brought it to this city and sold it. The woman found out recently that her son was the thief, and so she came to the city and procured a warrant from Justice Cassidy for his arrest. Yesterday Giles was taken before the Justice, his mother testifying against him, and the proof was such that he was found guilty of the charge and was ordered to give bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance at Court. He failed to give the bond and was duly committed to jail, while his mother recently journeyed homewards, having accomplished the object which brought her to the city."

AN ENCOUNTER WITH A MANIAC.—At Portsmouth, N. H., on the arrival of a train of cars on the Eastern Railroad, Thursday afternoon, a man jumped off and demanded of another standing there that he "pay that $40" he owed, enforcing his demand with an oath. "If I don't pay you say $40," he replied. "I don't say you before." "Well, you pay it, quick, or I'll make you," said the first man, brandishing a revolver, every chamber of which was loaded with powder and ball. The gentleman threatened seemed at once that the assailant was insane or "in the horrors," instead of trying to run away or knock the maniac down, either of which operations might have resulted fatally, replied, "Well, I haven't got the money about me, but I know where I can get it, and if you like to go with me we'll make it all right." The pleased debt-collector thereupon quietly followed his guide to the police station, a distance of about half a mile, and was locked up by the officers.
